Tributes for ex-mayor 'of many talents'

TRIBUTES have flooded in for former borough and town mayor Councillor Tim Marks who died suddenly on Monday.

Cllr Marks, a serving borough and county councillor, was on a committee site visit when he died.

Haverhill Town Council held a minute's silence at its meeting on Tuesday night.

Leader of the county council, Colin Noble, said: "As a well respected man, Tim had a warm and friendly relationship with council members, officers and the communities he served so well. He will be remembered and missed by everyone."

"Details are still emerging but it is understood he was on a development control committee site visit in his role as a St Edmundsbury borough councillor when he collapsed."

Cllr Marks, who lived in Haverhill, was elected a town councillor in 2003, a county councillor in 2005 and a borough councillor in 2007.

He was Mayor of St Edmundsbury in 2012/13 and welcomed the Rwandan Olympic team to the borough for a training camp. He served as town mayor twice.

At Tuesday's meeting, Cllr Pat Hanlon said: "He was a very busy man. He loved what he was doing and he loved the job of being a councillor."

"That stems from what happened yesterday. He loved the job of being a councillor even though he was very, very ill at the time."

Leader of the borough council, John Griffiths, said: "Tim was a man of so many talents and a true gentleman who was much liked and respected by members, officers and staff alike."

West Suffolk MP, Matthew Hancock, said: "Tim's life was one of public service. The work that he did has left a legacy of improvement to the town that he loved and he will be sadly missed."

Cllr Marks leaves a widow, Margaret, who is a borough councillor.

More tributes will be made at Haverhill's full Town Council meeting on Tuesday, January 19, at Haverhill Arts Centre.

Details of Cllr Marks' funeral will be released in due course.

School trust head to leave after 13 years

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

THE head of an academy trust is leaving her post at the end of this school term.

Madeleine Vigar will leave the Castle Partnership Academy Trust at Easter after 13 years leading Haverhill schools. She will be setting up her own education consultancy, mentoring headteachers on the challenges of school leadership.

She said: "I feel enormously privileged to have worked with very many fantastic people in our town. I have thoroughly enjoyed working with the children, young people, staff, governors and parents at our three schools and am confident that they will go from strength to strength."

It is not yet confirmed who will replace Ms Vigar, but she will be working with the trust's board of directors to ensure a smooth transition.

John Baillie, chair of the board, said: "The board of directors is confident that Ms Vigar leaves the trust and its academies with leadership teams who will continue to deliver excellent education for the young people of Haverhill and beyond. Ms Vigar is supporting the board in developing a succession plan and we are working with the regional schools commissioner to ensure that the vision of the trust can continue to develop."

Ms Vigar took over as headteacher of Castle Manor Upper School in 2003 and, alongside the chair of the board of directors Alan Pearson, helped design the academy trust's current all-through curriculum.

During her time as a Haverhill school leader, she has worked at Castle Manor Upper School, which became Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, Castle Hill Middle School, Place Farm Community Primary School and Burton End Primary School. Her team took Castle Manor to an outstanding Ofsted rating in 2010.

Ms Vigar said: "When I arrived at Castle Manor as headteacher, I insisted that students wore the correct uniform - it caused quite a stir and, much to my horror, made the front page of the local newspapers!"

"I quickly became very proud of our students, who designed a smart new uniform, went on to become excellent leaders and they continue to impress with their professionalism, resilience, optimism, understanding and drive."

Last year, Castle Manor received lower maths GCSE results than expected and received a warning letter to improve from the department for education. The academy trust's communications manager Jason Andre said Ms Vigar's departure was unrelated to this.

‘Diet pills almost killed me’

Lewis Brown's family were called to say goodbye when he overdosed on diet pills after becoming obsessed with getting the perfect summer body. Miraculously, he pulled through, but others have died after taking the drugs. Now he's speaking out to warn of the dangers of taking the tablets.

A DAD from Haverhill who wanted a perfect 'beach body' was given hours to live after he overdosed on controversial diet pills – which “cooked” his body from the inside.

Lewis Brown, 25, started going to the gym to get fit but quickly became obsessed with working out and started taking steroids to gain a 15-and-a-half stone frame.

The lab worker – who went to the gym everyday – then turned to diet pills, DNP, last summer to help him lose extra fat so he could add more muscle.

But the father-of-one overdosed when he took eight of the ‘fat burners’ in a day and the poisonous chemicals increased his body temperature to almost 42 degrees.

Doctors at Addenbrooke's were forced to put Lewis into a coma while they covered him in ice, but when his muscles started to die, his devastated family were called to say goodbye.

Miraculously Lewis pulled through – but not before medics were forced to cut out a leg muscle which had died.

Now he is warning of the dangers of the pills which can be bought for just 3p each online.

Lewis said: “I was so out of it about getting bigger that I thought I was unstoppable. I just wanted to be better than anyone else.

“I was a different person then – everyone has said. All I was interested in was getting bigger and I just didn't know what I was doing.

“I'm just lucky that I'm still alive.”

Lewis, who lives with partner Tara Watterson, 25, started going to the gym when he was aged 20 and weighed a healthy 10 stone.

But around two years ago he started using steroids he bought online and from friends to bulk up, and reached around 15-and-a-half stone.

He paid around £100 a month for the drugs, which he would inject or take orally two or three times a week.

Despite noticing he was becoming aggressive and obsessive, the gym fanatic continued with his regime.

As well as taking steroids, he bought DNP pills – dinitrophenol – online for £30 a packet, in a bid to get a ‘summer body’ in July.

DNP accelerates metabolism and causes the body's temperature to rise.

He had taken three or four of the tablets a day for a couple of weeks in early 2015, but on July 23 he took eight in 12 hours – his first day back on the tablets.

The near-fatal dose was the exact number taken by student Eloise Parry, 21, from Shrewsbury, who died just months earlier.

“I was hoping the steroids would keep the muscles, but the tablets would strip the fat,” he said.

“I took three in the morning and I didn't feel anything for a few hours, so stupidly I took another five.”

Realising his mistake when he started to get hotter and hotter, he drove himself to accident and emergency at Addenbrooke's.

Medics ordered him to drink a charcoal drink to ‘soak up’ the chemicals, but the toxic chemicals were already attacking his body.

His temperature soared to 39.8 degrees, and doctors put him in an induced coma and gave him ice baths, while warning his family to prepare for the worst.

“They said if I didn't drink it I could die,” he said. “I remember drinking it, but that's the last thing I remember. Apparently after that I started to get really confused and they called my family.

“My body was just heating up and cooking from the inside out.

“I was put in the coma I think to stop my body moving and doing anything that

SPEAKING OUT: Lewis Brown, right, became obsessed with having the perfect body, which drove him to steroids and diet pills. He was put into a coma and spent a week in intensive care, above, before doctors were forced to cut out dead muscle from his leg, left

NEWS IN BRIEF

Radio presenter tells of 'amazing' panto role

RADIO 2 co-presenter Janey Lee Grace described her experience of playing the Fairy Godmother in Haverhill's panto as 'amazing'.

Chatting this week to veteran DJ Steve Wright, she told listeners that she had enjoyed every moment of it – but that it had been quite stressful.

"It was just amazing... it was such a laugh, like being a kid again," she said. "It was a fantastic show with a great script. But it was very stressful. We didn't have a prompt and for the first few shows I was worried in case I forgot my lines!"

She was appearing in Cinderella at Haverhill Arts Centre from December 18 to 28.

Mobile phone stolen in pub distraction

A MOBILE phone was stolen from a pub after a man confused staff by trying to change money.

The incident took place at 10.30pm on January 2 at the Bull Pub in Haverhill's Market Square.

Sgt Matt Gilbert, of Haverhill Police, said a man went into the pub with £120 in £20 notes and asked for tens. There was a bit of distraction and the man left, slipping a phone into his pocket on the way out.

The stolen phone was a Samsung S5, which retails at more than £300.

Police inquiries are ongoing, call 101 if you have information.

COMMUNITY

Charities to benefit from grants of over £200,000

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

HUNDREDS of thousands of pounds are to be handed out to charities and voluntary organisations.

The money – which will go to local organisations such as REACH Community Projects and Haverhill Citizens Advice – will come from St Edmundsbury Borough Council's community chest fund.

Of the £246,006 to be given out in grants, a whopping £182,000 will go to Suffolk West Citizens' Advice Bureau, which runs the Haverhill Citizens' Advice Bureau in Lower Downs Slade. The money will go towards reviewing the way that clients access services and making sure people see the most appropriate agency.

Jane Ballard, district manager of Suffolk West Citizens' Advice, said: "We are extremely grateful for the level of support we get from the local authority."

Haverhill-based charity REACH Community Projects is to receive a £5,000 grant. The charity, which runs a furniture bank, food bank and debt advice service, will use the money to run a supported volunteer service which will enable people with physical and learning disabilities to volunteer at their food banks.

Henry Wilson, of REACH, said: "We want people who might not necessarily get the chance to have that opportunity."

The Voluntary Network is to receive £9,860 to develop a befriending contact service to supplement its current befriending scheme for elderly people.

The contact service will see volunteers help the people they have befriended make the steps towards going to a day centre or social club.

Other grant are to go to Homestart and Relate.

Applications for further community chest grants open in April. To find out more, visit www.westsuffolk.gov.uk/community/community-grants.cfm.

Council dedicates meeting to homes plan

A CONTROVERSIAL plan to build a 2,500-home development in north-east Haverhill will be discussed at a meeting next Thursday.

The Haverhill Town Council meeting will be entirely dedicated to discussing the development ahead of the deadline for consultation comments on Monday, January 18.

The plan has been opposed by residents who say it will put a strain on Haverhill's infrastructure.

Councillors are encouraging members of the public to attend the meeting to find out more, and to submit their comments on the plan to St Edmundsbury Borough Council at westsuffolk.gov.uk.

The meeting will take place at 7pm on Thursday, January 14, at the Leiston Centre in Leiston Road, Haverhill.

CRIME

Man held over jail 'drugs' find

A MAN has been arrested on suspicion of trying to smuggle drugs into a prison.

Police were called to HMP Highpoint in Stradishall by prison staff at around 2pm on Sunday.

The staff had called the police after searching a member of the public before a prison visits session.

Officers attended the prison to conduct a search.

Sgt Matt Gilbert, of Haverhill police, said: "The suspect was searched with the use of a prison dog."

He said that officers discovered some suspected Class A drugs wrapped in condoms in the soles of a pair of trainers.

A 24-year-old man from South London was arrested on suspicion of possessing Class A drugs with intent to supply.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

The man has also been arrested on suspicion of conveying a prohibited article into a prison after police discovered a mobile phone during their search.

He has been bailed to return to Bury St Edmunds Police Investigation Centre on March 30.

A spokesperson for the prison service said: "Police were called to HMP Highpoint on Sunday after staff searched a member of the public ahead of a visits session. A police investigation is ongoing therefore it would be inappropriate to comment further at this stage."

HMP Highpoint is a category C male prison with 1,323 inmates.

Sunday's incident is not thought to be related to Operation London, Suffolk police's ongoing effort to reduce the flow of drugs into Haverhill and other Suffolk towns from the capital.

Operation London focuses of drug dealers from North London who visit Suffolk towns and take over the homes of vulnerable people to deal in drugs.

Police are continuing to appeal for Haverhill residents to call them on 101 if they see anything suspicious that might help them with Operation London. This could include regular visitors to an address who only stay for a short time, lots of strangers in the area or large groups of people hanging around in new places.

You can also call Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

CRIME

Appeal after suspicious car fire

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after a suspected arson in Haverhill.

Emergency services were called at 6.38pm on Sunday to Gloucester Road where a silver Smart car was on fire.

Three males were seen running away from the scene in the direction of Leather Lane. One of them was short, about 4 to 5 foot, while the other two were taller.

The same car had recently had its rear windscreen smashed, police said.

One fire crew from Haverhill attended the scene.

Firefighters used two sets of breathing apparatus and two hose reel jets to fight the blaze, which was under control by 7.06pm.

Anyone who saw anything suspicious at the time is asked to call Haverhill police on 101 quoting reference 37/10453/16.

Layby would never work

I READ with great interest your article about the new crossing near Sainsbury's and have to say I'd have been concerned if a new layby had been installed.

As given the total disregard that some people using the A1307 pay to the Highway Code they would never, ever give priority to the buses when they signal to pull away from that stop.

In fact I recall elsewhere that laybys have had to be removed because of the selflessness of the many motorists who do not care about anybody else in their frantic desire to get from A to B.

However, I do agree with the comments about the bus shelter which was for all intents and purposes dumped in the ditch whilst the work was being down on the new crossing.

I would have thought it would have taken somebody 30 minutes to clean it whilst it lay in the ditch or to clean it before resitting it at its new location.

Thank you for your kindness

ON behalf of The Salvation Army, I would like to thank the people of Haverhill for your generosity to us over the Christmas period, which enabled us to provide Christmas dinner for those who would otherwise have spent the day alone. We began Christmas Day singing carols as we worshipped the Lord Jesus. Our Mayor joined us and graciously served tea and coffee to the congregation. We enjoyed a lovely dinner together before being well entertained by a local singing trio called "Ocean Range".

Father Christmas also visited us and gave a small gift to everyone.

Thank you to all who contributed and especially to our team of willing volunteers who cooked and served us.

May the Lord bless you all in 2016.

Teachers are so important

REGARDING the story about Haverhill families not having the drive to encourage their children to go to university (News, December 31). My daughter is in her third year of university – nobody else in our family has achieved this.

Our daughter has divorced parents, but we both have fully supported our daughter, (as have her step-parents).

We were very lucky to have four very good teachers at her school. Our daughter went to Castle Manor aged 13 as a grade D student and left with 12 GCSEs (some A & A*).

Then, when they thought she would struggle with A levels, again these four teachers fully supported her.

Your pictures

FRIENDLY FACES: Clare Reeve, from Cambridge Way, Haverhill, sent us this photo of some deer which she took at White Post Farm in Nottingham just before Christmas. "The deer were lovely, with really inquisitive characters!" she wrote.

■ We love to see your pictures. Send them in JPEG format marked 'Your Pictures' to wendy.davey@cambridge-news.co.uk. Please add your name, address and daytime telephone number, where you took the photo and, if possible, a picture of yourself! We reserve the right to reuse pictures at our discretion.

SMY only problem came when my daughter applied for student finance, nobody gave us any advice, and the teachers' response was that we should have saved from birth. On minimum wages?

The other problem for students now is poorer parents cannot claim a grant.

Neither I nor her dad have £250 a month to give to her.

So my final summing up: We need more teachers who fully support students and parents and a government which cares.

A global drug crisis grows

IS 2016 going to be a happy new year?

For me, an important aspect of this question boils down to the following: Is this year going to be the one when at last we start to take the antibiotics crisis seriously? Because this slow-burning crisis is now threatening to undermine the very existence of modern medicine.

If 2016 is going potentially to be this happy year, then it behoves us all to take this moment to look more deeply into the way that, unhappily, the precious and irreplaceable resource of antibiotics has been all-but-completely squandered.

For this crisis is more than just a disaster-in-waiting for the health of each and every one of us. It serves as an indictment of our culture's ruling principles.

For this could only happen in a culture that prizes individual choice above all and that therefore refuses to put the common good above the whims of time-pressed doctors employing antibiotics as placebos, patients who as consumers demand them in the absence of sound medical rationale, and above all the short-termist practices of industrialised farming.

We need to recalibrate our culture and reintroduce the balance that comes from giving due weight to the public good in matters of public health.

A national health service should serve the health of the nation, the public, and not have its ability to achieve that goal compromised by pandering to consumerist principles and to farmers who are willing to make us collectively pay the ultimate price for 'cheap food.'

Uniquely precious resources such as antibiotics need to be strictly reserved for situations in which they are necessary.

It should quite simply be forbidden to dish them out.

Sports association nets £300,000 soccer grant

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

A FOOTBALL organisation will be able to offer more training, activities and community events – thanks to a grant of more than £300,000 to improve its facilities.

Haverhill Community Sports Association, based at the New Croft in Chalkstone Way, has received the grant from the Premier League and the FA Facilities Fund.

The fund gave out 163 grants between June and December last year – but the £321,450 received by the Haverhill organisation is one of the largest in the south of England.

The money will go towards installing floodlights and a modern “3G” pitch surface. The new pitch will suffer much less wear and tear than a traditional grass pitch and will mean it can be used every day and at all times of year.

Peter Betts, facilities manager and football development officer at Haverhill Community Sports Association, said: “The big thing is there is no 3G in this area so to be able to offer that to the local football community as a local training provider is huge.”

He said work on the pitch was set to begin in April or May and be completed by August this year, but that the organisation would still be open during that time.

As part of a rigorous application process, the association had to develop a five-year plan for increasing community access to its facilities.

Mr Betts said that in five years time “there will be a lot more activity, there will be a lot more boys and girls accessing football and having a level of physical activity, a lot more adult players.”

He said that activities offered by the association were set to include flexible training in the evenings for people who cannot make Saturdays, “older generation” sessions, disability football, and more training and education for coaches.

Disease numbers show smoking risk

SMOKERS are being urged to quit after Public Health England numbers revealed that 4,800 West Suffolk residents were diagnosed with chronic obstructive pulmonary disease last year. Smoking causes 86 per cent of COPD deaths.

Henry Tapp, above, of Live Well Suffolk, said: “Quitting smoking is one of the biggest improvements you can make to your health.”

CHALLENGE: Athletes at last year's triathlon event

Picture: Paul Tebbutt

Sign up for town's first aquathlon

ENTRIES are now open for Haverhill's Triathlon Festival – including the new HaverAqua aquathlon.

The town's triathlon – known as HaverTri – has been running for the last two years, while the HaverDua duathlon, which combines a run and a cycle ride, took place for the first time in October last year.

This year, the two events will be combined with an aquathlon – which is a swim and a run – suitable for athletes aged 8 and above.

Organiser Jack Tappin, of HaverSports, said: "HaverTri is suitable for all ages and abilities, and the strong take-up of HaverDua last year saw the event become even more inclusive."

"With HaverAqua now added to the festival, there's an opportunity for enthusiastic young triathletes to get started and join in with our events."

A variety of distances are available to suit novice and experienced athletes.

The events will take place at Haverhill Leisure Centre in Ehringshausen Way on October 2.

To find out more and sign up visit haversports.com. Early bird prices are available until the end of January.

CRIME

Warning after burglary spree

POLICE are warning residents to fit good locks – after more than 20 break-ins during the New Year period.

A total of 15 garages were broken into in a single night in the Parkway area of Haverhill on December 28. Of these, 11 were in Lulworth Drive, between 5pm that evening and 11am the following morning. While most were empty, one garage had £1,500 worth of fishing tackle and a power drill stolen.

On the same night, four more garages were broken into in the surrounding area, in Stirling Drive, Castle Lane, Dunster Drive and Templars Court, and there was a further attempted burglary in Stirling Drive.

Further garages were broken into on January 3. The lock was forced on a garage in Salisbury Court between 12pm and 3pm that day. Between 4.30pm that day and 8am on January 4, a garage in Paske Avenue had a router, drill and planer stolen.

HANNAH MIRSKY

Police say that many of these garages are in blocks at the end of a road rather than next to the home of the garage owner, which makes them more vulnerable.

Sgt Matt Gilbert, of Haverhill police, suggested that residents invested in a decent lock for their garage door. He said many of the garages which had been broken into had been secured with padlocks which the thieves had cut.

Other advice that police have given about garage break-ins includes buying a battery-powered alarm or parking your car directly outside the garage door.

Two homes have also suffered break-ins over the same period.

A bungalow in Weddell

Road was burgled at some point between December 28 and January 4, while the occupiers were on holiday.

Someone threw a concrete brick through the rear kitchen window to gain entry and conducted an untidy search of the property.

It is not yet known if any of the items were taken from the home.

In Kirtling Place on December 29, electronic equipment including an iPad was stolen after yet another break-in.

Burglars smashed the glass panel in a front door to gain entry and made an untidy search of the property.

Police are urging residents take precautions and are asking anyone with information about any of these incidents to get in touch.

You can call Haverhill police on 101 or alternatively contact Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

COUNCIL

Decision day for 'eyesore' flats

AN application to build a block of flats branded an "eyesore" by residents was due to be decided today.

The proposed block of 13 flats in Haverhill's Burton End has been opposed by the town council as well as residents in Old Rope Walk and Howard Close, who say their homes would be overlooked by the three-storey building.

The proposed flats would be just 19 metres from homes in Old Rope Walk. One resident on the road wrote to the borough council that the development would "significantly reduce privacy for residents".

She went on: "The proposed development will result in residents on Howard Close and Old Rope Walk being unable to enjoy the privacy in their gardens from which they currently benefit. The proposed three-storey block will dominate the skyline and as such will be an eyesore for said neighbouring properties."

Two previous applications to build blocks of 15 flats on the same site have been unsuccessful – one was submitted in November, 2013, and withdrawn the following June; the other submitted in September, 2014, was refused by the borough council last February.

The refusal was due to concerns the development would have a negative impact on the appearance of the area and make life less pleasant for nearby residents.

The application, by Prime Crest Homes Ltd, has now gone to appeal.

The new application was discussed by Haverhill Town Council at a meeting of the planning committee. The town council had previously objected to the application and several councillors had since visited the site.

Deputy mayor David Roach said: "It's a lot bigger site than you think. I was quite surprised when I looked at it. I couldn't see anything wrong with it."

But Cllr Maureen Byrne said it was "overdevelopment". She cited issues such as the removal of trees, and the traffic problems the development could cause.

She continued: "Although they have put a couple of things right, I think it's overdevelopment. There are things on [our list of objections] that they haven't done and I think we should expect them to do that."

The town council's planning committee voted to uphold its objection to the plan.

The application was due to go before the borough council's development control committee today for a decision on whether to grant permission for the homes to be built.

Mum celebrates huge weight loss

A HAVERHILL mum of two has lost five stones in weight and dropped five dress sizes.

Jo Taylor, who lives in Stanton Close, decided to do something about her weight and started to attend Slimming World in September, 2014.

The 33-year-old childminder said: "I was walking up to school a lot and I couldn't breathe, my legs were killing me. I was like: 'I've got to sort it out'."

She started attending Slimming World groups with a friend, and by the end of last year had dropped from a size 24 to a size 14. Her weight dropped from 18st 11lbs to 13st 9lbs.

"I didn't even tell my mum that I was doing it," she added. "I've never really been one to stick at things.

"But this is more about healthy eating and a way of life."

Now Jo is encouraging others to make a New Year's resolution to attend a slimming group.

"I am a lot more confident," she said.

Call Tania Watson at Slimming World on 07974 565 229 to find out more.

HISTORY

Digital archive will store memories of workplaces

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

FUTURE generations will be able to access a digital archive of interviews about the Haverhill workplace – thanks to the efforts of a history group.

The Haverhill Family History Group launched its “Haverhill at Work” project earlier this year and has been busy filming interviews about working life in the town over the last 60 years.

It is hoping to put on an exhibition about Haverhill employers this September – and possibly create a documentary from the interview footage.

It will then archive all its video and audio recordings of interviews so that future historians have access to a wealth of information about Haverhill working life.

Chair of the family history group Brian Thompson said: “From a social history point of view it is extremely important that these memories are captured as tremendous changes have affected the workplace during this period.

“The information gathered will hopefully provide a valuable insight and a factual source for those historians of the future but equally it will be of interest to people of all ages now.

“From those who worked during these years to those just starting their working life, we hope that there will be something for all.”

Brian and his team have been conducting group interviews and are about to embark on the second stage of the project, which involves one-to-one recorded chats about workplace memories.

If you'd like to get involved in a group session, the history group is planning many more for employees of companies such as IFF, Herberts, Signpost Paints and Gurteens, as well as high street stores like Glasswells and Cleales.

The next group interview is for former employees of Project Office Furniture and will take place on Saturday, January 23 at 10am at Haverhill Arts Centre.

To find out more contact Brian on (01440) 712 652.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Broadband gets boost

SUPERFAST broadband will soon be available to more businesses and homes.

The county council has started a second round of broadband deployment, under the Government's Broadband Delivery UK programme.

The aim is to extend coverage of superfast broadband to 95 per cent of Suffolk premises by 2019, with full coverage expected by 2020.

The first round of broadband deployment under the Better Broadband for Suffolk Programme was completed last September.

It made fibre broadband available to 105,000 more premises in the county, bringing total coverage to around 85 per cent of Suffolk.

See betterbroadbandsuffolk.com for more details.

Guard your bank card

POLICE are urging residents to be vigilant after an increase in the number of thefts involving bank cards.

The thieves – who often target older people – are known to use a method known as “shoulder surfing”, which involves watching someone enter their PIN number over their shoulder and then using distraction techniques to take their card.

Distraction methods in recent thefts have included dropping something on the floor and telling the victim they have dropped something so they bend down to pick it up, as well as asking for directions or change.

Members of the public are urged to be extra vigilant when using their bank cards and to call 101 if they see anything suspicious at cashpoints.

'Our family time is finally now starting'

Two-year-old Sebastian Brokenshire-Dyke underwent life-changing surgery following a £70,000 fund-raising campaign which captured the hearts of the community.

Reporter Natalie Robinson caught up with the family just before Christmas to hear of the amazing progress the little boy is making

A TODDLER from Snailwell, near Newmarket, has been able to dance for the very first time – after life-changing surgery in America.

When 2-year-old Sebastian Brokenshire-Dyke was diagnosed with cerebral palsy last year, his family feared he would spend the rest of his life in a wheelchair.

But this Christmas, after a £70,000 campaign to fund crucial treatment, little Seb can not only stand up by himself for short periods but has started to dance, stamping his feet to the music.

And last week he took his first steps.

Seb lives with his mum and dad, Lorna and James, and twin brother Solomon.

Lorna said the surgery had transformed the family's hopes for the future.

She said: "Seb was diagnosed at 15 months old after failing to meet his developmental milestones. That was a really difficult time for us as a family because we didn't know much about the condition – and we feared the worst."

After months of research, Lorna stumbled upon a procedure called Selective Dorsal Rhizotomy (SDR), which removes spasticity in the legs and enables patients to move more freely.

"When I first heard about it, I discounted it because it's such an invasive procedure," Lorna said.

"I thought it was brilliant, but not for my child. But then, through Facebook we saw other families going through the same thing.

"There were children with more severe disabilities than Seb doing really well. Kids that were already confined to a wheelchair and largely had been written off by their health-care providers had got up and walked."

Soon, Lorna was completely convinced – and on October 1 began what they envisaged would be a year long campaign to raise £70,000 – enough to pay for Seb's surgery in America and physio afterwards.

Their efforts included a three-legged marathon, a sponsored toddle on Newmarket Heath, and Tough Mudder events, amongst hundreds of others by people up and down the country.

Their marathon raised £15,000 – and a place in the Guinness World Record books – and they reached their target in May, five months ahead of schedule.

In October, Seb, Solomon, Lorna and James travelled to St Louis in the USA with “world leader”, Dr Tae Sung Park who has done more than 3,000 operations of this type with a 100 per cent success rate.

Lorna said that while the surgery was a complete success, the uncertainty was how Seb would do in physiotherapy.

She said: “His surgeon has predicted that he will be an independent walker. We have no doubt that is going to happen, but what we don't know is when it will happen or how quickly he will achieve the goals he has been forecasted.

“If he puts in the work, one day in a few years he is going to be similar to his brother. That was always our biggest, most powerful motivator – the fact that we had the two of them.

“But having twins really highlighted the differences in quite a painful way – that was something that motivated us to get the surgery and find a solution.”

Now, just two-and-a-half months on, Seb provides a new gift often as he progresses.

Lorna said: “Since surgery, he has already learnt to stand for a few seconds by himself. His posture is better and he can sit more comfortably. His legs just move completely differently. He can swing his leg to get up onto something – climbing is transformed.”

And just a few weeks before Christmas, Seb danced for the first time.

Lorna said: “As a parent of a child who has a physical disability, you downgrade all your expectations to shelter yourself from disappointment.

“You take away the significance of that milestone because otherwise it's just crushing if you carry on thinking about the things he can't do.

“Then he danced, stamping in time with the music, and it chokes you because you just think ‘I didn't think he'd be able to do that’.

“It's such a simple pleasure – and we can suddenly start ticking the list and putting all these things back on there and it's incredible.”

Now enjoying a new physio room, renovated for free by Mobile Minis UK, Seb is ticking off boxes left, right and centre.

Lorna said: “Seb's surgery has reset our family's future as to what we thought it would be.

“Things we imagined doing like walking down the beach as a family – just really simple things but things we wanted to do together.

“They are very important and we had them taken away from us when he was diagnosed.

“With his condition, by ten or early teens, mobility declines and they end up wheelchair bound. That's just not going to happen now with him. He's not going to have that premature aging. It's been eliminated at two years old.”

Recently, the NHS has announced they have no further funding for the surgery in the UK after carrying out a clinical trial last year – something Lorna feels very strongly about.

“Now every family who wants this for their child will either have to wait for results of the clinical trial and a decision to routinely fund it which is going to be years in the making, or their only option is to fundraise like we did which is really hard,” Lorna said.

“We think it should be available on the NHS because it's such a life changing procedure and it's proven.”

For now, the Brokenshire-Dykes are continuing with Seb's progress and supporting other families fundraising for the same treatment.

Lorna said: “Last Christmas was really difficult because we were still coming to terms with his diagnosis.

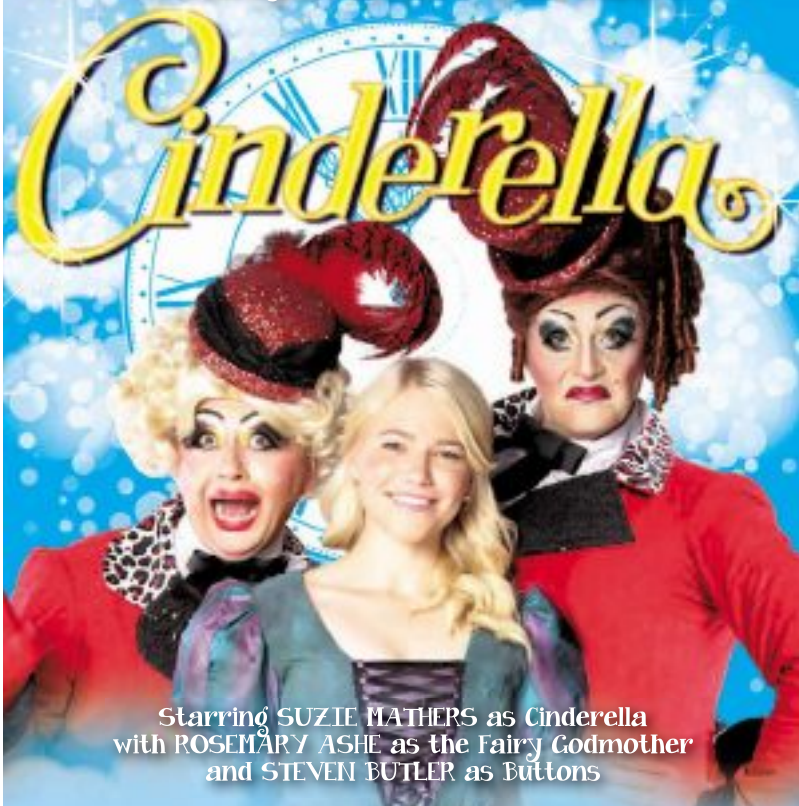

“There was a massive difference with what they [Seb and Solomon] could both do.

“At Christmas, you look ahead at what the next year is going to bring and for the first time as a family, we have nothing but good things to look forward to.

“He is improving every week. This is our family time finally starting.”

Mayor in sight of appeal target

THE Mayor of Haverhill spent all of 2015 fundraising for a potentially life-saving machine – and she's almost ready to order it.

Mayor and former nurse Cllr Betty McLatchy is determined to buy a £19,000 hospital-quality ultrasound machine, and has already raised a whopping £17,000.

At present, anyone who needs an ultrasound scan in Haverhill has to make the trip to West Suffolk Hospital in Bury St Edmunds, which can be especially difficult for people who have mobility issues or rely on public transport.

Cllr McLatchy said about the machine: "It's very important for all organs, but aortic aneurysms, which are a big killer – it's very good at finding those."

"It's instant diagnosis so you get straight into the operating theatre."

She is hoping to reach her fundraising target and order the machine within the next few months. But she won't stop there and will continue to raise money for the Haverwell Community Wellbeing Fund to ensure enough medical staff are properly trained to use the machine.

The fund has received support from a number of community groups throughout 2015, ranging from a charity raffle held at the Flying Shuttle pub to a £1,600 donation from Withersfield Bowls Club.

She said: "I'm so proud of the people in Haverhill – at first they didn't want anything to do with it!"

The mayor said the campaign had initially encountered resistance to the idea that they should fund what the NHS couldn't, but people had gradually realised that the machine would be useful to the community.

"Gone are the days when everything was 100 per cent free," she said.

The purchase of the ultrasound machine is one of a number of things Cllr McLatchy is doing to improve the state of healthcare in Haverhill – which has faced challenges since the town's walk-in centre was closed in 2012.

She set up an out-of-hours first aid clinic for the "walking wounded" so that people would not have to make the trip to Bury St Edmunds, and is pleased by the recent appointment of two paramedics at Haverhill GP practices to treat minor complaints.

If you would like to find out more about Haverwell or donate money you can call Cllr McLatchy on (01440) 714 338.

CART RIDE: Children enjoying the pony day

Youngers gallop into the New Year

YOUNG riders had a New Year's treat at a stables near Haverhill.

The children, aged between three and 12, attended a pony day at Three Counties Riding School in Little Wratting. They learned about riding tackle and how to groom their ponies before going for a cart ride.

They also competed in a "gymkhana" which involved challenges such as riding standing up in the stirrups and riding with closed eyes.

The riding school holds similar events for children with all levels of experience every school holiday.

The show must go on...

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

THE festive season might be drawing to a close but theatre-goers in Haverhill can expect family fun with a pantomime this month.

The town's Centre Stage theatre company is putting on its own take on the fairytale Rapunzel, with a unique script written by cast member Rebecca Neal, who wrote last year's Peter Pan. It tells the familiar story of long-haired Princess Rapunzel and her handsome prince, complete with panto dame, villain, and plenty of laughs.

"It's great fun for adults and kids," said Haverhill Arts Centre's arts and leisure manager Nick Keeble. "We are looking to pepper it with some local references."

Director and producer Kelly Mepham described the show as "a must see for all the family".

Nick will be playing the dame, a hairdresser called Nelly Bangs. "There's quite a lot of hair-based gags!" he said. "I'm taking my hairdressing role quite seriously and doing lots of research. I've got to shave my beard!"

Rehearsals have been going on since November, and the 60-strong cast have been learning song and dance numbers to wow audiences.

Kelly said: "We have a very large cast for this year's panto, totalling over 50, with the cast ranging from 5 to 60-plus years. It's always a challenge, trying to rehearse large casts, but we felt it important to incorporate as many young people as possible."

"It's got a feel in certain places of a musical to it," said Nick. "The chorus pieces have got some amazing choreography."

The show will also feature all the staples of a good panto: there will be a beautiful princess, a sparkling fairy and a baddy to boo in the form of the wicked Mother Gothel.

"We have kept to the traditional panto format, and there is the usual mix of lead characters," said Kelly.

The set will be a giant storybook with turning pages, while members of the chorus will be dressed as familiar fairy-tale characters – there will even be a competition to see if you can identify them all.

"Rapunzel has always been one of my favourite children's stories, and I was excited at the chance of directing such a well loved and well known pantomime," said Kelly. "The show promises to deliver magic by the bucketful, comedy capers, treacherous villainy and romance."

The production of Rapunzel will be the first performance at the arts centre after a £63,000 refurb this month.

Audience members will be treated to a new sound and lighting system as well as spruced up bar and cafe areas.

The production follows another panto, Cinderella, which broke box office records with an audience of 3,000 when it was on in December.

Nick said: "It's great to be able to do two pantos and get the place full of people having fun."

Rapunzel will be showing at the Haverhill Arts Centre from January 22 to 30.

● HEAD down to the Red Lion in Sturmer tonight to listen to music ranging from country to rock 'n' roll and soul – and even try your hand at performing.

The pub, in the village's Rowley Hill, is holding its regular open mic night, which takes place on the first Thursday of every month. All are welcome at the friendly night and backing is available for performers is needed.

Head to the pub from 8pm or call them on 01440 766971.

● WITH the New Year comes a new art exhibition at the Alliance Française Cambridge. The exhibition is by French artist Söberland, and features 20 black and white pieces influenced by the tattoo and street art cultures. Creating a surreal monochrome universe, with a dark and poetic atmosphere, Söberland has no plan or outline to her work, with each piece drawn from her subconscious.

The exhibition is part of Alliance Française Cambridge's continuing mission to encourage and develop knowledge of the French language and cultures.

ART EXHIBITION: Söberland, Alliance Française Cambridge, Saturday, January 9 to Tuesday, February 9. Find out more about the exhibition at alliance-cam.co.uk

COMEDY THEATRE

Meet the hilarious kings of improv...

Hold on to your hats: the mighty comedy juggernaut that is The Noise Next Door are comin' at ya!

The kings of improv, and all-round cheeky chaps, have been performing their own brand of off-the-cuff comedy since they met at university, and, it's fair to say, there's nobody quite like them.

With absolutely no script, they transform audience suggestions into comedy scenes and songs in the blink of an eye, with seriously hilarious results.

Think ludicrous characters, witty one-liners, epic stories, and explosive physicality, underpinned by their infectious, feel-good brand of humour. 2015 was a huge year for the quintet with their eighth consecutive sell-out run at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival, plus appearances on BBC One, ITV2, BBC Three and BBC Radio One. We're expecting 2016 to be even better!

Billed as the One Direction of comedy, the five boys are:

Charlie Granville – A Brighton lad with a taste for high society and the finer things in life.

Sam Pacelli – His Italian heritage has instilled him with a fiery passion for life, a flagrant disregard for traffic laws and an uncontrollable need to offer parmesan and black pepper to anyone he sees eating.

Tom Livingstone – Spent his formative years in the deepest, darkest corner of rural Devon proving that size did not always directly relate to suitability for manual labour.

Following intellectual endeavours instead, Tom is now technically the world's most educated troll.

Matt Grant – Matt was born in Kenya and raised in Kent. When faced with a challenge, Matt either hunts the problem with a spear or holds a bake sale in its honour. ... mixing the two approaches rarely ends well.

Tom Houghton – Tom was born in North Yorkshire but was raised on army bases all over the globe where he learnt useful skills such as cheeky eyebrow raising, moisturising on a budget and the words to every Disney film. ... the usual military stuff.

The Noise Next Door: Noise in the Hood, Cambridge Junction, Friday, January 15 at 7pm. Tickets £15 from (01223) 511511 / junction.co.uk

E-TYPES: Parade at Silverstone

2016 looks great for Silverstone Classic fans

WITH the arrival of 2016 comes another new year packed with automotive anniversaries to be celebrated in stunning style with mouth-watering displays and eye-catching track parades at the annual Silverstone Classic (July 29-31).

In recent years, the famous Silverstone Grand Prix circuit has staged record processions featuring evocative E-type Jaguars, fabulous Ferrari F40s, evergreen Porsche 911s, muscular Ford Mustangs and historic Formula One cars.

Many clubs are already revving up for new parties in July. The BMW Car Club GB is marking the opening of the original Bayerische Motoren Werke manufacturing company in 1916, the Lamborghini Club UK is honouring the 50th anniversary of the iconic Miura supercar as well as 100 years since the birth of founder Ferruccio Lamborghini while the Morgan Sports Car Club is paying tribute to the 4/4 model, which turns 80 in 2016 and remains the oldest model in the world still in production today.

YOUNG motorists are five times more likely to drink and drive if their parents do it, according to a new study.

A survey of 251 motorists aged 17-25 found that 37 per cent admit to driving when over the alcohol limit.

But among those who said their parents drink-drive, 70 per cent confessed to also doing it, compared to just 14 per cent of those who have not seen their parents over the limit and behind the wheel.

Steve Barrett, head of car insurance at Churchill, which commissioned the research, says: "The immediate risks that those who drink-drive pose to other road-users are widely known and very serious, but the knock-on impact on younger generations is extremely worrying."

A survey of 2,000 Britons found that 29 per cent admit to driving the morning after drinking when they believed they may still be over the legal limit.

Japanese and Korean models top reliability poll

AUTO EXPRESS magazine exclusively publishes the results of one of the UK's most comprehensive car reliability studies today, the Warrantywise UK Dependability Table.

According to the exclusive data provided to the UK's biggest selling weekly car magazine Auto Express by leading warranty provider Warrantywise, Japanese and Korean cars are more dependable than their European or US rivals. The table also reveals which brands are likely to see owners visiting the service workshop more often, and who will have to spend the most (and least) to put their cars right.

Each car manufacturer has been ranked by a dependability factor, based on the number of reported faults or breakdowns, with a score of 75 representing the UK average. A rating above 75 is considered good, and below 60 signifies a high incidence of repair work is required. Average costs, vehicle age and model are also considered in the Warrantywise ranking, with the average age for this table being 6.29 years.

To be included in the table each brand is required to have at least 100 active Warrantywise policies.

Toyota is ranked top brand for dependability (backing the 2015 Auto Express Driver Power survey results). UK top-sellers Ford and Vauxhall ranked eighth and 17th respectively. The table also shows that big spend and premium brand motoring doesn't always guarantee a hassle-free

TOYOTA: A popular and reliable marque ownership experience, with Bentley, Jaguar and Porsche all scoring below 60 in the dependability ratings.

If your car does break down, the average repair cost in the UK is £639, with the lowest average bills from Smart and MG. Makers such as Peugeot and Ford also produce models that are among the cheapest to repair.

For the full table of dependability results please visit autoexpress.co.uk.

The top five reliability marques are Toyota, Honda, Suzuki, Mitsubishi and Mazda.

Some of the stunners due at NEC Performance Car Show

EXCITEMENT levels are building in the run-up to the Performance Car Show presented by Landsail Tyres in association with Autocar and PistonHeads.com, which takes place at the NEC in Birmingham between January 14-17.

An incredible collection of ultra exclusive hypercars and newly launched lightweight sportscars will grace the halls at the show next month and what can only be described as petrolhead heaven. Here is a round-up of the Top 10 not-to-missed high performance cars at the show in January.

Jaguar C-X75

Not one, but two Jaguar C-X75s, driven on screen by 'Sceptre' villain Hinx (played by Dave Bautista), will be at the show.

Aston Martin Vulcan

The Autocar stand (19010) will showcase this ultra exclusive £1,800,000 supercar from Aston Martin and it'll be one of the best opportunities to see this rare and mind-blowing race car.

McLaren P1 GTR

Costing nearly £2,000,000 and offering a colossal 986bhp thanks to its cutting edge hybrid V8 powertrain, the McLaren P1 GTR is the most powerful McLaren ever made.

McLaren 570S

Visitors to Sportscarhire's stand will be able to see the brand new McLaren 570S up close, and it is expected to be a huge draw card for supercar fans at the show. The mid-engined 562bhp 570S is the latest model from McLaren, and is capable of sprinting from 0-60mph in just 3.1sec while 0-100mph is dispatched in 6.3 seconds.

THE MONO: Features all-new 2.5-litre four-pot Mountune powertrain

BMW M4 GTS

Packing 493bhp and capable of lapping the Nürburgring in an astonishing 7.27.88 seconds, the BMW M4 GTS is another extreme limited edition track day car making an appearance at the Performance Car Show.

Zenos E10 R

See page 22 of this edition for details.

Avatar

At 700kg the Avatar is lighter than a Lotus Elise, and the base model boasts 250hp from its 2.0-litre Ford Ecoboost engine, giving it a power-to-weight ratio of 333bhp per tonne.

There's also an uprated 350bhp option powered by the impressive 2.3-litre version of the Ecoboost engine in the new Focus RS.

BAC Mono

BAC's 2016 Model Year Mono, featuring an all-new 2.5-litre Mountune four-cylinder engine producing 305bhp – that's up 25bhp on the previous 2.3-litre Cosworth engine. The revised car weighs in at just 580kg giving an incredible 526bhp per tonne.

Abarth 695 Biposto

This ultimate 695 Biposto is a fine example of the extreme, rare-breed of hot hatches currently proving popular. It will form part of the all-new Hot Hatch Nirvana theme of the Performance Car Show.

Ginetta G57

The covers will come off the all-new Ginetta G57 as the prototype racing car receives its full public debut at Autosport International. Visitors to Ginetta's stand will be among the first people outside of the manufacturer's HQ to see the all-new G57 in the metal.

Metro 6R4

The Metro 6R4 is headlining a star cast of more than 60 rare and collectable road and racing cars going under the hammer with Coys live at Autosport International. This particular model is one of the lowest mileage examples of its kind, having covered just 3,100 miles since it was built in 1985.

Radical RSX Spyder

Powered by a 3.5-litre Ford V6 EcoBoost Turbo engine and fitted with carbon bodywork. It is expected to be a big attraction when it is officially revealed on the morning of Thursday, January 14. Alongside the new Radical will be a very special version of the company's SR3 sports racer – chassis number 1000.

NEW CATEGORY: Competing for the 'What Car?' Compact Executive Car award are, from left, the Toyota Avenis, the Jaguar XE and the Skoda Superb

New year, new car awards!

THE What Car? Awards are some of the most highly prized automotive accolades by both car manufacturers and the car-buying public combined, because What Car? experts ensure that only the vehicles that deliver exceptionally against strict exacting criteria are shortlisted.

The hugely important Reader Award is one of the most heavily contested, because it acts as a strong indicator of public sentiment towards new cars being brought to market in the next 12 months.

A new category is also making its debut at the 2016 Awards: the Compact Executive Car, for which challengers include the Jaguar XE, Skoda Superb, and Toyota Avenis.

The most coveted of all the trophies up for grabs is the overall Car of the Year Award. The car that will be crowned as overall winner will have to beat the rest of the best across the event's 18 separate categories.

21 British-built cars have made the long list. Among those, Land Rover models have received nominations across four categories: Small SUV (Land Rover Range Rover Evoque); Large SUV (Land Rover Range Rover Sport); (Land Rover Discovery Sport); Luxury Car (Land Rover Range Rover); and the Reader Award (Land Rover Range Rover Evoque Convertible).

Similarly Jaguar, which builds the F-Type Coupé (Coupé Award); Jaguar XE (Compact Executive Car, Safety Award); Jaguar XF (Large Executive Car, Safety Award); Jaguar XJ (Luxury Car); and the Jaguar F-Pace (Reader Award) in the UK has also received nominations across six categories respectively.

What Car? editorial director Jim Holder said: "It's a hugely exciting time of the year for us in the automotive business, because the build-up for the What Car? Car of the Year Awards is properly underway and we can now announce the 2016 Awards contenders.

"The job our panel of experts must undertake to determine not only the best performing car in each category, but then the overall What Car? Car of the Year for 2016 is an incredibly rigorous one, because each car must be stand-out and our overall winner, extraordinary.

"Each of those car manufacturers who have made our long list, have done so for reasons of some outstanding individual quality in their latest vehicles.

"Out a total of 138, 21 are built here in the UK, something we should all celebrate."

Awards are only given to the cars which set the highest standards in their class and only the best of these will be named What Car? Car of the Year 2016. In 2015, the Skoda Fabia was crowned the overall winner.

The 2016 Car of the Year Awards take place on January 13 at the Grosvenor House Hotel, Park Lane, London.

DEFENDER 2,000,000: At sale

Land Rover Defender auctioned for £400k

A UNIQUE version of the iconic Land Rover Defender, and the 2,000,000th example ever built has sold at auction for £400,000.

The special version, called 'Defender 2,000,000' was built in May this year by a number of brand ambassadors and notable people from the history of Land Rover, including Bear Grylls, Virginia McKenna OBE and Stephen and Nick Wilks, sons of the founders of Land Rover.

Sold to a bidder from Qatar, all proceeds from the sale are being donated to Land Rover charity partners, including the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies (IFRC) and the Born Free Foundation, who plan to use the funds to support the 'Project Lion Rover' wildlife conservation initiative in Meru National Park, Kenya.

CHAMPIONS AGAIN: Haverhill Golf Club's juniors were victorious in their annual match against the club's ladies. The competition was played as a foursomes format over 10 holes, with the juniors triumphing 2½-1½ to retain the trophy

Football

Honours even for Rovers at Brantham

HAVERHILL Rovers kicked off the new year with a goalless draw away to Brantham Athletic in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division.

Player-manager Michael Shinn had to make a number of changes, which resulted in young striker Ty Alleyne being moved to centre-half to partner Marcus Hunt, while recent signing Leon Bailey started in midfield.

The makeshift team then had to make a further change only minutes into the game when Bailey suffered a nasty dislocation of the finger that required a trip to hospital.

The home team had the better of the first-half chances as Rovers goalkeeper Alex Archer was twice called into action.

At the other end, Ryan Weaver and Luke Haines both had efforts at the home goal.

Weaver was denied after the break, Scott Kemp fired some great balls across the goal from the left, and Hunt nearly got himself on the score sheet when his header hit the post.

Archer was then called into action to save down to his left late on.

Sims set to return to British GT in 2016

ALEXANDER Sims will return to the British GT Championship in 2016 for a limited run with Barwell Motorsport, in addition to another outing in the Nurburgring 24 Hours.

Sims has enjoyed a fruitful relationship with Barwell, driving for the outfit for the past two years, finishing runner-up this year.

And despite being a BMW factory driver, the manufacturer has given Sims permission to race for Barwell, even though they are switching from the German marque to become a

Motorsport

Lamborghini factory-supported team.

Sims will miss the first three races of the championship, but from Silverstone onwards in June, he will run in the Lamborghini Huracan with Liam Griffin.

"It all came about very quickly," said West Wratting driver Sims, who teamed up with Marco Attard for a full campaign in 2015.

"The team had to go to BMW for permission, as I will be driving a Lamborghini, and I'm thankful that they (BMW) have been very understanding and supportive of me doing other things."

Sims believes the opportunity to race in another type of car can only be beneficial.

"Being another GT3 car, the performance level is going to be similar to the BMW," he said.

"It's no bad thing at all to get more experience in a race environment behind the wheel of another manufacturer's car.

"I see my future with BMW but to see how other manufacturers do things may help me."

Fabio Babini will compete in the races Sims will miss, and although Sims will not be in contention for the drivers' title, he hopes to be able to help Griffin claim the crown.

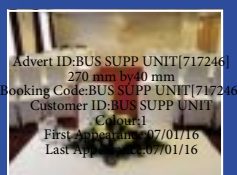

While the rest of his programme has not been officially confirmed, Sims expects to race in the N24 on May 28 and 29, as well as a European GT campaign with the new BMW M6.
